expanses of green, scattered oaks and maples surrounding a structure of glass, formica, and steel set the stage . . .

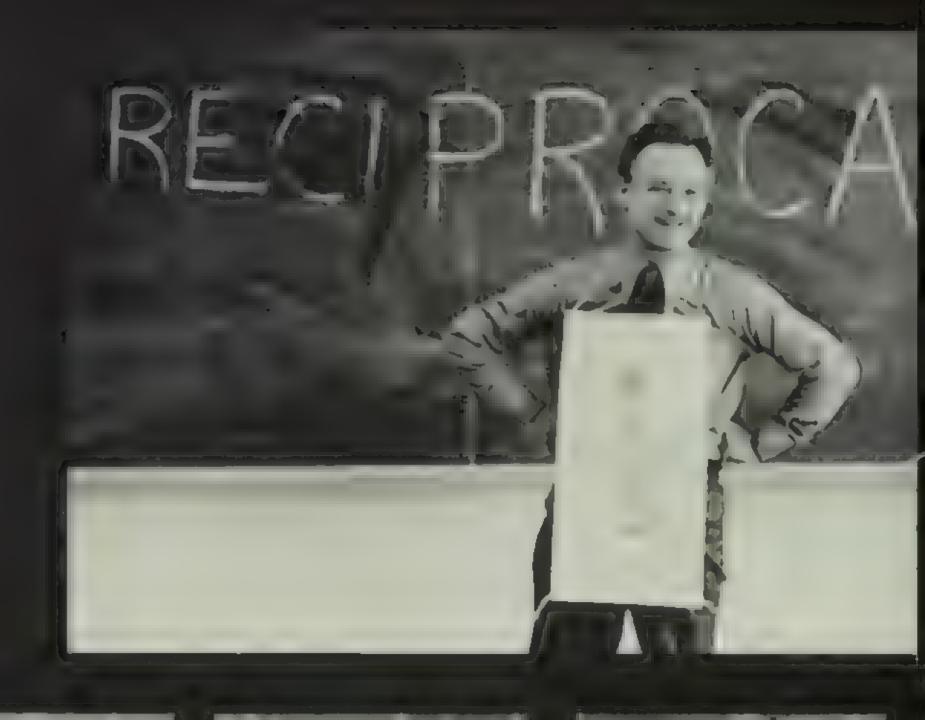

the characters;
students and teachers,
exchange roles of performer and audience
moods, feelings, and aspirations affect the smaller dramas while time urges the performance to its finale.

dedication

the editors of the 1974 cracle have chosen as their dedicates a teacher in every some of the word, mr. john simen.

with his hair asless and a retich smile, he has managed to bring the inanimate figures of mathematics to vibrant life for countiess students. Historialing, for journally, inverse relation whips by assessing a headstand before his pupils, he is a true performer in the drama and cornedy of education.

his duty interchange with his classes in one in which he is willing to play both toucher and student on as as result, both he and his students form lessons that alude textbook definitions.

thr. simen has devoted himself to fulfilling his rate not only as a teacher, but as a friend, and a human heing, in thanks and gratifieds, we after this dedications.

there's a tree outside my nine a'clock class whose leaves are beginning to change,
and sitting here
with a book in my hands I think it's rather strange to be studying english or french or math
when just outside this wall the leaves are turning to butterscotch
in this sunny caramel fall rt's time for a break!

now we're on our own
time.
all we need is warmth,
a smile, a song,
until once again
the curtain rises.
